Dear Dr. Atkinson:

The Board of Review (BOR) of the Division of Accreditation (DOA) of the American College of Nurse-Midwives (ACNM) met on January 25-26, 2008 to review the Mandatory Progress Report submitted by the Nurse-Midwifery Concentration, Division of Primary Care/Nursing Systems/Administration, University of Kansas School of Nursing.

The BOR agreed that the material submitted satisfies the criterion specified. Therefore, the program is granted continuing accreditation until June 2017 with the next site visit due in Spring 2017.

Sincerely,

Alice Poe, CNM, DSN, FACNM
Chair, Board of Review

Dear Ms. Busenhart,

We would like to thank you for submitting the program's Annual Monitoring Report (AMR) for 2013. We have finished reviewing the AMRs and would like to congratulate you, your faculty, and your graduates for achieving a 100% pass rate on the AMCB Certification Examination. Based on your 2013 AMR information, we find your program continues to be in compliance with the accreditation criteria and we do not require any additional information at this time.

ACME would like to extend thanks for all of your efforts to educate high-quality midwives, who are essential to women and children's health. We believe that the accreditation process is an important factor in ensuring excellence in midwifery education.

Please do not hesitate to contact us with any questions regarding the accreditation process. We are available to support your program and its continued success. Again, congratulations on your achievement!

With all good wishes,

Diane B. Boyer, CNM, PhD, FACNM
Chair, ACME Board of Review
