

Need a place to stay during “YOU at KU” orientation week?

Do you need time to look for a place to live after you arrive in Kansas? Will you have to wait to move into your spring semester housing? Do you likewise need a place to stay while you are participating in the “YOU at KU” orientation week? If so, then ISSS has negotiated special rates for you at a couple of the motels that are close to campus!

Limited scheduled transportation service for “YOU at KU” participants will be provided between these two locations and the KU campus during the orientation week. If you chose to stay at another off-campus location you will need to arrange for your own transportation.

You must identify yourself as a new international student attending orientation in order to get these great rates. Prices listed are per night. Advance reservations are recommended, but not required. However, room availability cannot be guaranteed without a reservation.
