

Why would the enrollment total be less on the staff permission numbers page than the actual number of students listed?

An example is the enrollment total equals 25, but there are 26 students listed as using a permission number. The enrollment total is correct and should be used to compare to room size. One of the students on the detail list has swapped the class and is no longer enrolled, but it is not marked as dropped. This could happen for any student that uses a permission number and later swaps the course.
